

GUARDS ASKED IN HARRISON ROW

SECRECY STILL CLAIMS ACTION OF GRAND JURY

Sixty Witnesses Called to Appear Before Body of Investigators.

NO BREAK IN SECRECY

Hope for Early Reports Not Entertained by Officials.

The veil of mystery still hung over the activities of the Pontotoc county grand jury after that body of men had been in secret conference since 9:45 Monday morning, at which time they were sent to secret chamber armed with instructions to probe seven specific charges brought to their attention in an order read by District Judge J. W. Bolen.

Down the narrow corridors of the county court building men lounged waiting for their turn to appear before the selected twelve all wondering at the trend of information sought from their knowledge.

Grim as the grand jury itself, men made their exit from the chamber rooms of the jury, went their way and said nothing. None stopped to explain the matters that had been divulged from their testimony.

No intimation that an early report could be expected from the grand jury is entertained summoning of witnesses continued until a late hour this afternoon with a stack of subpoenas yet to be served to parties living at the far edges of the county boundary.

Sixty witnesses summoned. Approximately 60 persons have been summoned to appear before the grand jury up until a late hour Tuesday summoned according to report at the sheriff's office.

No women have been summoned as grand jury witnesses. Summons are taking a wide sweep of the county, favoring no certain locality but picking at random witnesses from practically every district in the county. Contrary to the general belief, summons reaching the rural districts of the county almost double those served in the city of Ada.

First summons issued through the sheriff's office claimed residents in the northeastern section of the county.

Sheriff Sloan is personally handling all summons served in Ada. His deputies W. W. Walker and W. B. Walker are busy with those outside of the city of Ada.

It is not known how many witnesses will appear before the grand jury before their report.

Katy Planning to Electrify Service on Oklahoma Line

(By the Associated Press)
DENISON, Tex., Jan. 16.—While official announcement has not been made, it is said from an authentic source that the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad will electrify their Atoka and Oklahoma division between Atoka and Oklahoma City, a distance of about 100 miles. This plan has been contemplated for some time, and it is believed will be carried out during this year. The heaviest freight movement over this division consists of coal from Coal-gate and Lehigh mines. This business, it is said, can be taken care of by steam-operated trains between these points and Atoka, which is a short distance.

The passenger, express, mail and light freight can be easily handled by electric-driven freight and passenger cars. It is also said that a connection between Denison and Atoka, a distance of fifty-two miles, may be made by an electric connection between Oklahoma City and Texas points. An official announcement of the plans under consideration is expected to be made within sixty days.

SIX VICTIMS IN SANTA FE WRECK

Four School Teachers and Two Boys Lose Lives in Car Accident.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 16.—Four teachers from a school in an outlying district and two boys, 9 and 10 years old, respectively, are dead today as the result of injuries received yesterday when their car was struck by Santa Fe passenger train.

Ruth Howard, 24, and Ella McFadden, 24, lived until early today, dying in a local hospital from the effects of internal injuries. Mrs. Opal Darnell, 28, Cora Phelan, 29, Frank Davis, 10, and Henry Maloney, 9, were instantly killed.

They tried to beat the train to a grade crossing. The wreck of their car was dragged a quarter of a mile before the train could be stopped.

The motor car belonged to Miss Howard and was driven by her when the accident occurred. Frank Davis had attended school only about two weeks, according to his father, E. V. Davis. The lad's mother is dead. "Frank must have been given a 'lift' from school," as I don't know any of the others," the elder Davis said. The other four in the party were school teachers.

The accident happened at 4:45 o'clock. The train was going north and making about fifty miles an hour according to M. A. Mayse, in front of whose home the accident occurred. The Ford was going west and attempted to cross in front of the train, Mayse said. The Ford was picked up and carried nearly three-quarters of a mile before the train could be stopped.

Mayse, an employee of the Oklahoma Publishing company, was at the front end of the engine when it stopped in front of his home at Forty-eighth and High streets.

French Cavalry Enter New Area for Occupation for Polius.

(By the Associated Press)
PARIS, Jan. 16.—The reparations commission today decided that Germany had wilfully defaulted in her payments. France, Belgium and Italy so voted, while the British representative refrained from voting. The default, it was explained by Louis Barthou, president of the commission, resulted from the refusal of Germany to make payment of any kind while the French were in the Ruhr. The French high commissioner was anxious to receive the vote of the commission, which endorsement of the French policy is expected to materially strengthen the French position.

ESSEN, Jan. 16.—The conference between the German industrialists and French officials is on today. In case this fails, severe methods are likely to be applied, according to French officers. One of these said: "We have tried soft methods and the Germans refused to co-operate. If they do not come to time now, we will give them a taste of their methods in Belgium and Northern France. We will give them something to whine for."

PARIS, Jan. 16.—In an official communique to the western powers it is stated that the French troops have occupied Dormund and Hoerde, about 27 miles northeast of Dusseldorf, where the advance began. The advance on Hoerde marks the farthest eastern penetration by the French since the beginning of the present movement.

COBLENZ, Jan. 16.—An epidemic of influenza has broken out among the American troops stationed here and among the civilian population.

DORMUND, Germany, Jan. 16.—French cavalry appeared on the outskirts of this city today and it is expected that the occupation will be completed by 4 o'clock this afternoon.

SOLOH DECLARES FARMERS WANT ACTION ON FORD OFFER

Woman Charged With Slaying Husband as She Holds Baby

(By Central Press)
OSKALOOSA, Ia., Jan. 16.—A luxurious sedan was bowling along the country road between Des Moines and this city.

A man sat at the wheel guiding the powerful car around curves and down grades at a moderate speed.

Pillowed in the cushions of the rear seat was a babe. The man gazed steadily ahead, occasionally turning to the woman momentarily as if commenting on the passing scenery.

Suddenly there were four loud reports above the regular put-put-put of the smooth running motor. The alien reports resembled the backfire of a motor.

The sedan continued on its way for a few seconds. Then it swerved. There was a crash as the heavy machine ploughed into the ditch and overturned.

The piercing shrieks of a woman sounded above the roar of the racing motor, the splintering of wood and the din of breaking glass.

Passing motorists rushed to the spot. The man, still pinioned beneath the wheel in the driver's seat was dead. But not from the crash. Hasty examination showed four bullet wounds in his body.

The woman was unconscious; the babe unhurt.

The three were rushed to a hospital here. Police were called.

They examined the wrecked car. Returning to the hospital they questioned the woman, who had regained consciousness.

Her name they learned was Mrs. Paul Eberle and the name of the dead man, her husband, was Paul Eberle, Des Moines stock broker.

Yes, she had killed her husband—had fired four shots into his body.

Mrs. Paul Eberle and her baby.

But she charges she was compelled to do it in self-defense. She shot, she is said to have told police, as she held her infant in her arms.

Then Mrs. Eberle again succumbed to the shock of the auto crash which might easily have cost her life and her babe's.

Police are continuing their investigation while Mrs. Eberle is being nursed back to health in the hospital.

WALTON SELECTS AFFAIRS BOARD

Ruth, LeFlore and Mrs. Pat
Nagle Members of New State Board.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 16.—The appointment of Charles H. Ruth of Oklahoma City and Louis LeFlore of Stigler as members of the state board of affairs followed the confirmation of the appointment of Mrs. Pat Nagle of Kingfisher as a board member by senate.

The names of the two appointees were forwarded to the senate by Governor Walton but owing to the fact that the upper house had adjourned no confirmation could be secured.

Ruth was named chairman of the board and with LeFlore will compose the democratic majority. Mrs. Nagle registering as socialist and minority member.

Ruth has been a staunch supporter of Walton all through his political career, going with him during his state-wide speaking tour and acting upon several instances in his stead. Ruth was a boyhood chum of the state high executive and has been closely allied with him in Oklahoma City during his term as mayor.

Walton, in making the appointment of Mrs. Nagle, declared that she would do credit to the state and the party she represents. He further stressed the importance of recognition of the socialist delegate saying that the party, 100,000 strong, had rallied to the aid of the democrats and had made victory certain.

mitted Klansmen.

(By the Associated Press)
BASTROP, La., Jan. 16.—The Mer Rouge case is moving rapidly towards a climax. The state expects to materially strengthen its case by the testimony of two self-admitted members of the Ku Klux in regard to the kidnapping of Daniels and Richards. Several new witnesses are expected to testify.

Several witnesses are expected to testify in connection with the statements made by two witnesses made yesterday of the black hooded party and plans made by members of the Klan to stage off a possible attack by citizens of Morhouse parish.

One of these testified that Capt. Skipworth, exalted cyclops, was in Bastrop the night that Daniels and Richards disappeared. He said he had called on Skipworth and asked if it was the work of the Klan and that Skipworth had denied that the Klan had any connection with it.

SPEAKING CLUB PREPARES PLAY

High School to Raise Funds for Competitive Matches
in State.

The public speaking clubs at the High School are busy working on a play to be rendered at the close of next week, for the purpose of raising additional funds for carrying debates, declaimers and readers to the places of competition with other high schools of the state. The play, "Professor Pepp," is one of very much interest and "pepp," humorous, yet not too light. It is timely and up-to-date in subject matter. The best dramatic talent of the High School is engaged in preparing this modern drama, under the direction of Mr. German, head of the English Department, and Miss Nicholson of the Expression Department of the college.

There is scheduled for Friday evening at the High School auditorium the debate between Ada and Stonewall. This is on the regular state question of Restriction of Immigration; and is to determine whether Ada shall continue to be in the State contest for championship in debate. It is urged that those who are interested in intellectual contests as well as in physical contests, be present and lend their encouragement. We need every loyal friend of the Ada High. The debaters to represent Ada are Joy Pepp, Miss Fay Laird and Bob Naylor. Miss Donaldson, head of the Music Department, will furnish music with the Girls Chorus and Mr. Cudd's orchestra will play. Admission on student activity tickets; otherwise 25 cents admission charge.

ARKANSAS TOWN AGAIN SCENE OF RAILROAD CLASH

Striker Found Hung High
Over Railroad Bridge Near Harrison, Ark.

MAY NEED MILITIA

Citizens Continue Probing of Activities of Rail
Strikers.

(By the Associated Press)
HARRISON, Ark., Jan. 16.—Lynching of an alleged striker, the mayor and city council ordered to resign and the town marshal ordered to leave town was the situation at Harrison today as reported by the Harrison correspondent of the Arkansas Democrat.

Unconfirmed rumors stated that several persons had been killed, but these could not be verified.

The situation is the result of the burning of bridges and destruction of the property of the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad following the strike that was called two years ago. Three bridges were burned last week and brought the officials to the point where they considered abandoning the operation of the road.

HARRISON, Ark., Jan. 16.—The body of E. C. Gregor, a Missouri and north Arkansas railroad striker, was found hanging from a railroad bridge near here this morning. Gregor is said to be the man, who opened fire on officers and citizens yesterday afternoon.

It is said that he was called before the vigilance committee last night and defied them, declaring that a day of reckoning was coming. A coronor's jury is being empaneled to inquire into his death.

Several hundred armed citizens, who began the "house cleaning" were still walking the streets this morning searching for strikers. When one was found he was taken before the committee for questioning.

It is reported by a newspaper correspondent that a well known hotel keeper and capitalist was publicly whipped and then taken before the citizens' committee. He is said to have signed the bond of Stevens, one of the men arrested for bridge burning. Court adjourned until January 29.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 16.—Gov. McRae received a request for aid in handling the situation at Harrison and at once ordered Col. McAllister of the adjutant general's department to leave here at once to investigate. Troops will be called out if Col. McAllister deems such a step necessary.

Col. McAllister was at Conway this morning and upon receipt of the message from the governor left immediately for Little Rock. It is expected that he will arrive here at 10 o'clock and then proceed to Harrison.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 16.—When informed that Mayor Clute of Harrison said that he had asked for troops and had been refused, Gov. McRae said the dispatch was incorrect and that he was awaiting legislative action. Under the constitution the governor is without authority to call out the national guard when the legislature is in session without its sanction.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of railroad trainmen, announced today that he would telegraph to Harrison for a full account of the lynching of one of the strikers and would wait until he had full particulars of the affair before making any comment.

OIL OUTLOOK BRIGHT

More activity in the oil fields of this county is now evident than we have seen for months. The Allen field, we are informed, is taking on new life. New wells are going down and at least one of the refineries is getting ready to handle a greatly increased flow of oil.

The Francis field is now producing several barrels a day and other wells are to be drilled. The pipe line to the refinery will assure a certain sale for the output.

Near Ada we have more activity. With two wells going down north of town, with one east of the city and with several bodies of men blocking acreage, it appears that the immediate Ada territory is to have a thorough test, a thing which has never been made.

The Bebee field is also showing action. With two wells drilling and another one to start, another six months ought to determine whether that is to be a big pool or comparatively small one.

Geologists who have come into the county and studied the structures are unanimous in their reports. All agree that a good pool of oil likely underlies this section and some insist there are several pools. Some say that the oil is at a greater depth than the operators have been drilling. Probably the deep tests will tap the reservoir and Ada will then realize her ambition of being a real oil city.

SUMS IT UP.

"The world, and particularly the American business world," says Theodore H. Price, "it awaiting with interest and suspense the result of the French effort to coerce Germany. The people of the United States sympathize with the French in their fear of another German invasion, but they doubt the success of the French method of collecting debts by impoverishing the debtor."

That sums up American sentiment. The future of the world's business, and of American business particularly, depends upon the outcome of the French experiment.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

One of the greatest advances made in the past quarter of a century by the newspapers is in editorial courtesy. In former times it was considered the thing to regard a competitor as an enemy and a crook and to handle him accordingly in the editorial column. All this is changed now, for the editors have learned that the public cares little about what they think of one another, and furthermore, that no man can throw mud without having some of it stick to himself. They know that it is the thing to go after all the business they can get claws on but that there is no sporting blood in the fellow who howls when another gets a slice of the business, when he gets it by fair means. Papers may entertain different views, but this does not mean that they can accomplish anything by impugning the motives and calling one another every name on the calendar.

For many years the French nation has been much concerned on account of the declining birth rate, and since the war the situation has come in for more attention than ever. For a number of years before the war the population remained stationary, the deaths sometimes exceeding the births. At the present time France appears to be a slowly dying nation which in a few generations more will take low rank among European powers because of the lack of population. Many suggestions have been made relative to the situation, but so far nothing tangible has been accomplished.

The American soldiers stationed on the Rhine know what it is to be millionaires. At the present rate of exchange a soldier's monthly pay is equal to 3,000,000 marks. This is 36,000,000 marks per year. When they come home they will find themselves on pay that is expressed in two figures only. Some come down.

Lenin, the Russian dictator, is again reported to be dying. This report has been circulated at intervals ever since he took over the reins of government. Looks like it takes him a long time to die or else the persons responsible for the reports just fall back on that when they have nothing else to write about.

The Red River case is settled at last by a decision of the U. S. supreme court which is in effect a compromise between the claims of Oklahoma and Texas. Neither side is especially elated over the outcome but both know what constitutes the boundary between the two states.

The French have occupied the Ruhr region of Germany but it remains to be seen if this will collect the debt the German nation owes France and the other allies. It may require a more drastic action to force the Germans to come across, but no one knows just what will be necessary.

The way an exchange figures it out there is no way of telling which is growing richer the more rapidly, Ford or Rockefeller, for the simple reason that every time Ford turns out a car he is creating a larger demand for John D.'s gas. Some co-operation about that.

Much Ado About Something
(Holdenville Democrat)

The emphatic defeat by the state legislature of two administration measures on the second day of the session has created a rather widely extended belief that the legislature is an Anti-Walton body and that Oklahoma's fifth governor since statehood is going to have trouble galore. The press that has always opposed Walton has given elaborate space to the legislature high-lights and played up the administration debacle for all that it is worth. But no one versed in the psychology of legislative bodies is going to bet all his money on an anti-administration hand just yet.

Both the projects electrocuted by the legislative current involved appropriations, large appropriations of public monies, and experienced legislators know how new members shy at measures bearing the dollar mark. During the first thirty days of a session it is nearly impossible to pass any appropriation bill; after thirty days, however, it is next to impossible to defeat an appropriation bill. When the representatives are fresh from the corn rows they display a fiendish delight in swatting any and all money measures. But after spending thirty days in a three million dollar palace and after acquiring a shave, a shine and a shampoo, they unctuously talk of millions and refer to a six million dollar measure as a mere bagatelle.

True enough the militia mobilization project is dead as a coffin nail. It was now or never with the military annex of the inaugural program. But the salary grab scheme is only resting on its oars. It will come again and come at the psychological moment. Its advocates know human nature and they know the cerebral curves of the average legislator. Let the soldiers become accustomed to marble walls and acquainted with well dressed lobbyists, let them hear the plaintive appeal of the bread and butter brigade every moment of night and day, let them hear continued reference to the matchless wealth of Oklahoma—then they will be in the proper frame of mind to believe that it is a crime to pay even a statehouse bootblack less than five thousand per annum.

No, indeed. While the salary measure is down it is by no means out. It is destined to come again like an army with banners. And while it is improbable that all of its provisions will ultimately become statutory law, it is more than an even gamble to bet that before this session of the legislature shall have reached finality in its record we shall see a material increase in the state salary schedule.

Off To The Moon

(Wichita Falls Times)

All aboard for the moon! Prof. Robert H. Goddard of Clark University announces that a rich man has furnished "the necessary" and that the Goddard Rocket, sensation among scientists, will be fired from the earth to the moon next spring. Who will travel inside the rocket? "I have 26 applicants," says Goddard. "All of them are adventurers, rather than scientists."

Naturally! Jules Verne, in 1870, published "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." It was considered the wild dream of a visionary. In reality it was an accurate prophecy of the modern submarine. In 1865, Verne published "A Trip to the Moon." Will it, also, prove to be an accurate prophecy? The Goddard Rocket will tell.

In Verne's book, the men who were rushing on through space in a shell, bound moonward, passed out of the earth's sphere of gravitation. They dropped a dog out. The dog didn't fall. It began revolving in space, around the shell, a satellite, just as the moon revolves around the earth.

That raises this important scientific question: Will the Goddard Rocket reach the point where the earth's gravitational field meets that of the moon, and pause there, suspended in space?

That would be annoying to the man inside the rocket.

Man unquestionably will send huge rockets to the moon. If Goddard fails, other scientists will carry the work on to perfection.

Unquestionably, too, dare-devils will travel inside the rockets. There's always some one that will try anything.

What of the mentality of such a venture? Crazy? Why so? The rocket passenger in 30 seconds would live more than you and I live in 30 years. Then, too, he would be a martyr to a noble cause.

We of today live on the threshold of an age of scientific magic. What lies beyond can be imagined only by men like Goddard, with his moon rocket, or Marconi with his message from Mars.

Having conquered the earth, man will fly out among the stars and conquer space. Berlin, London, Tokio, Washington, Wall Street and Paris will cease to be the big sources of news. Headline will feature dispatches from the Sun, Jupiter,

Moon, Mars, or "Somewhere in the Milky Way."

Sadi Lecointe, Frenchman, has just traveled nearly three and a half miles a minute in an airplane. At that rate, as soon as science learns how to counteract gravity, we could fly to the moon in 40 days. Electricity, sent by wireless, will be the motive power.

But you cannot live another 100 years, to see the scientific marvels of the future.

"EBB TIDE" STORY OF REGENERATION

Human Drama Adeptly Presented By An All Star Cast.

What more moving human drama has ever been recorded than that of a man on the ebb tide of life—one who has "made a success of failure"—who suddenly and unexpectedly, even to himself rebels against the well nigh overwhelming poison of life's darkest waters, the drug of the ebb tide, and makes a soul touching fight to return on the new tide to the beach of regeneration?

That is the spectacle, most vividly presented in "Ebb Tide," a new and gripping Paramount picture, which will be the big feature at the McSwain Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Of course there was strong inducement for the regeneration of the Oxford scholar, played by James Kirkwood. It was love, in the form of dainty Lila Lee. It is doubtful that you will ever be treated to a stranger and more dramatic story of regeneration than that on which "Ebb Tide" is based.

The picture was directed by George Melford and is a worthy production, as may readily be judged by the fact that with Mr. Kirkwood and Miss Lee heading the all star cast are George Fawcett, Noah Beery, Robert Hatton and Jacqueline Logan, all seen in dramatic roles.

Some day our European debtors may get what is coming to them. They already have what is coming to us.—New York American.

Paris Dress Designer Reveals Facts in Art; Explains Style Change

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—Woman's dress will never approach the uniform type of man's dress, declared Madame Jeanne Paquin, founder and chief owner of one of the oldest of the Paris houses who has just rounded out her 33rd year as fashion leader and maker of dresses for those who would appear beautiful.

"The styles of today range back to those worn by the Egyptians, such as I once saw on the mummies of the now sunken island of Ptilae," said Madame Paquin.

"If we admit that dressing a beautiful woman is an art, then it follows that this art changes as other arts. One cause of such changes lies in social conditions.

"The season to season changes come from the fact that fashion creators wish to continue to create. For instance, as soon as I have completed a creation, wish to pass to something different. I can't help it. It is the creative instinct I obey.

"There can for this reason never be a set, uniform style for women, so long as women wish to be beautiful and men wish to have them so.

"The feminist movement means death to woman's beauty, and for this reason it can never succeed in France. Our women wish to appear beautiful, our men approve of this desire, and, within their means, are willing to pay the bill.

"When it was pointed out to Madame Paquin that her own success in business was used as an argument for the feminist movement she objected energetically.

"Whatever success I have had was due in large part to my husband. My mother insisted that as a girl I should learn a trade, to have as a weapon in life. I studied millinery and when I was married at 19, my husband and I decided to take up that line. He knew little about it, but he had a good business head. Without that I should never have succeeded. Women are too careful. They need somebody to push them to execution. Boldness is largely responsible for American success."

"The great tragedy of a woman's life," she continued, "often is that she is not good looking. I have known of many of these tragedies.

"Behind the smiling exterior of the rich or the highly placed woman, the fear of growing old, of not looking well, has hundreds of times brought them to be in tears.

"No, so long as a woman is a woman, she will wish to be beautiful, and just so long will there be changes in styles."

MADAGASCAR CLAIMING NEW MINERAL DEPOSIT

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON.—Madagascar has huge uraniferous deposits which are capable of producing in the near future 40 to 60 grains of radium bromide a year, according to Professor Lecroix, secretary of the French Academy of Science. This production would be equal to about half of the world's present annual supply.

Ten tons of "betafite," the name given by Professor Lecroix to deposits found in the Betafo district of Madagascar, crystals from which the radium bromide is obtained are found conveniently in red earth, and may be extracted by washing, as is done in the case of gold bearing deposits.

Water from an artesian well at Grentle, near Paris, brought from a depth of 1798 feet, is forced 321 feet into the air above the surface, and yields 516 1-2 gallons a minute.

DO YOU WONDER?

Asks This Lady, "That I'm a Believer in Cardui?"—Had Been So Weak She Had to Go to Bed.

Osawatomie, Kans.—Mrs. E. E. Keast, formerly of Illinois, residing here, says: "We moved to this state eleven years ago, and I had good health for a long while, and then some year or so ago I had a bad sick spell."

"I got so weak I couldn't go. I couldn't stand on my feet at all. I had to go to bed. I suffered a great deal. I was so nervous I felt I couldn't live. I tried medicines, and everything; had the best of attention, yet I wasn't able to get up. I lay for three months, not able to do anything.

"My husband is a bill poster and has circulars distributed. One day there came to be a Ladies Birthday Almanac among his circulars. I read it, and told some of the family to get me a bottle of Cardui."

"I quit all other medicines and took it (Cardui) faithfully, and two weeks from the time I began to take Cardui I was out of bed—better than for months.

"I kept it up and continued to improve until I was a well woman."

"Do you wonder that I am a believer in Cardui? I certainly am. And I am sure there is no better tonic made for women than Cardui."

Facisti Movement to Be Factor of Mexico Politics Next Year

(By the Associated Press)
MEXICO CITY.—Conceived in jest and at first accepted by the nation in the same spirit, the Facisti movement in Mexico has made such rapid strides during the past few weeks that it is now reckoned as an important political factor which doubtless will figure largely in the presidential elections two years hence.

Starting in the small city of Jalapa, capital of the state of Veracruz, it was declared even by its founders to be a mere local society without definite aim and certainly not nationwide in its scope. The name Facisti was adopted more because of its present popularity than because of the ideals sponsored by the Italian organization.

But certain persons who have suffered at the hands of a government which has pressed down rather harshly on property owners during the past ten years, grasped at the movement as a safe and effective means to protest against alleged injustice. It offered an opportunity for the landed classes to fight certain radical reform laws that have been imposed on them during the past few years. Without becoming actual revolutionists against central authority, they were able, through the new society to organize their interests with a view to gaining sufficient strength ultimately to make demands on the Mexico City government.

The Jalapa society was immediately copied in Tampico, and Monterrey, Mexico City, Puebla, Guadalupe, Merida, Oaxaca and Maxatlan followed suit. With in few weeks a temporary national Facisti organization was perfected with Gustavo Sainz de Sigilla, a young engineer, as provisional chairman. Officers were established here and within a few days 22 traveling representatives were sent to scattered parts of the republic to spread the propaganda of protest against bolshevism and radical law breaking. The second week in January was fixed as the time for a national convention at which time the Jalapa and Tampico societies, which have been operating independently, will join the larger organization. With more than 100,000 members already enrolled it is stated that by June next there will be at least 1,000,000 Facisti in Mexico.

Meanwhile officials at the national palace, here were undergoing a change of attitude toward the movement. President Obregon at first scoffed at the idea and dismissed it as a local society of no importance. He declined to consider it as a movement similar in any respect to the Italian Facisti. Indicative, however, of the fact that high officials now see a threat in the impetus gained by the society, is a recent declaration by Adolfo de la Huerta, secretary of the treasury, who described the Mexican Facisti as an "exotic plant that cannot flourish in this republic." He ridiculed its importance and expressed the hope that the Mexican proletariat would not "commit suicide" by adopting it. And in deprecating the movement he did what its supporters desired—recognized it as a factor to be considered in the political future.

With the growth of the Facisti there is a general understanding current in the republic that the Catholic church in Mexico, although not actively sponsoring it, is not at all averse to its spread. Official denial has been made by the Archbishop of Mexico that he or the church is in any way interested. Senor Sainz also says the church has nothing to do with the movement. But there is nothing to prevent the individual Catholic from joining the society.

According to Senor Sainz the Mexican Facisti is not a military organization. "We do not intend to copy the complete program of the Italian Facisti," said Senor Sainz to The Associated Press, "although their fundamental ideals are ours in that we are both organized to fight for a new order of things and to combat bolshevism. We do not want to shed blood, but if we are attacked we shall be prepared to defend ourselves. We intend to fight our battles through exerting economic pressure. There will be no street demonstrations, no parades. We shall go about our work quietly, organizing our forces, and weeks, perhaps months, may pass with but slight indications of our activity. But at the proper moment we intend to strike. Backed by our hundreds of thousands of adherents our government, if it fails to meet them, then it must deal with us directly. We are in no sense anti-government and we have every desire to construct not destroy. We are recruiting our forces from all classes of society and we make no distinction in creed or political faith. We have declared war on radicalism and we are prepared to carry on."

Mexico City newspapers have adopted varying attitudes toward the movement. Excelsior has openly espoused the cause and El Universal vigorously opposes it. El Democrata and El Heraldito are enthusiastic in its praise. El Mundo sees in it an attempt by the Catholic church to gain ascendancy in the republic. The January convention is awaited by all with keen interest.

Professional Men of Japan Spending Much for Own Food

TOKIO.—Professional men in Japan spend nine percent of their income on food while it takes eleven percent of the manual laborers income to feed him, according to statistics gathered by the Kyosho-kai, an organization which aims at bettering relations between capital and labor. On the other hand, the cost of clothes of the brain worker is eleven percent, while those of the manual worker take nine percent of his earnings. The former spends nearly 2 percent of his income for books and magazines against the latter's one percent.

The statistics also show that the savings of a brain worker is 8 percent of his income, that a manual laborer, 7 percent; and that a brain worker spends 12 percent for his house rent and a manual laborer 11 percent.

AN OLD FASHIONED FLOWER GARDEN THIS FALL

There is a peaceful charm in the old-fashioned garden that can be found in no other type of planting. The old-fashioned garden immediately suggests what a garden should be—not a passing show, glorious with blossoms and scent merely for a single summer, but a garden that has grown gradually lovelier and lovelier, year by year, as the home has grown along with it. The memories of joy and sorrow that must necessarily be a part of the home, have buried themselves in the hearts of those blossoms. No wonder the old garden was dear to the heart of grandmother.

Such a garden as this is the garden planted with perennials such as digitalis, phlox, forget-me-nots, larkspur, columbine, and all the rest of those charmingly unpretentious delicate stemmed flowers that used to nod and dance to the breezes in grandmother's posy beds. Flowers in the garden were chosen for their permanency, as everything else was chosen in the good old days before apartment houses and divorces. The flower garden flourished and grew along with the place and could be handed down with the trees and shrubbery and house and barns from mother to daughter. The perennial garden proclaims the home that is owned and loved not a temporary "residence" that never can be a real "home."

WHY NOT START SUCH A GARDEN NOW?

You may purchase the very finest perennial plants all ready to be transplanted into your garden—plants already grown to perfection, sturdy and healthy. Thrifty, well grown little plants of any variety you may desire all ready and eager to help you start the good work in your fall garden. The expense of starting such a garden is comparatively slight, when you stop to consider that the plant thus purchased will multiply itself many times and the one plant produce in time a mass of other plants for your future pleasure.

All the trouble connected with the making of this modern "old-fashioned" garden, if it can really be called "old-fashioned" comes at the start. Thereafter it almost cares for itself, and thereafter it is to contribute joy for not a single season, but for many, many seasons to follow!

Choose the spot for your "old-fashioned" garden, if possible, where it will be partly in sunshine and partly in shadow. Where it is chosen in this way, the special flowers may be grown in just the exact spot best adapted to its successful growth. Spade up the beds about 2 feet deep. Sod and top soil should be thrown in one pile—stones, gravel and subsoil in another pile. If the soil beneath the excavation is hard, break it up, with a pick.

HOW TO PREPARE THE BEDS.

A "perennial garden" must first of all, be a complete success have carefully prepared drainage. When you fill up the bed again, put in first a layer of clinkers, coarse gravel broken brick, crushed stone or some similar material to provide this drainage. Then put in a layer of sod with grass side down, or leaves or straw manure. The purpose of this second layer is to prevent the earth from washing down through the drainage layer. The third layer must provide the feeding ground for the roots of the perennials for the future years. For this layer, mix with the best of the soil some sod chopped up in small pieces (if the soil lacks humus) and 1-2 to 1-2 as much manure or rich compost. Good cow manure is good in this mixture. Also mix in a generous supply of course bone, fill the bed with this mixture to 6 in. of the top. Tramp it down slightly, then cover the top with good garden loam, mixed with high grade fertilizer or fine bone.

Now the home is well prepared and ready for the little plants and they should be planted just as soon as possible after their arrival.

SOME GOOD THINGS TO START WITH

There has been such a wide variety of perennial plants from which to choose that quite probably you have experienced some difficulty in making your choice. We will at least hope that your order has included some hollyhocks, blue larkspur, fox glove (digitalis) for the high growing plants in your garden; white phlox to produce a thick abundant mass of bloom; columbine (aquilegia) and Baby's Breath (Eysophilla) to contribute airy gracefulness; and lavender for fragrance, charm and old English memories. And we will hope that you have not omitted the sweetest one of them all, the "Lily-of-the-Valley" to grow and spread over that shady end, or the chrysanthemums and Michaelmas daisies to cheer the dreary autumn days with their brightness.

JAPANESE SHIP OWNERS PROFIT

Despite Reported Depression
Orient Corporation Pays
Owners Dividends.

(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO, Dec. 23.—The Nippon Yusen Kaisha operating a large fleet of steamships, despite complaints of depression in the shipping trade, was able to announce at today's meeting of its shareholders a dividend for the past half year at the rate of 15 percent. The report of the directors said that in general the cargo and passenger business on all of the company's line has declined during the last six months, but by strict economy and adjustment of the services the dividend was made possible.

The company now has 109 vessels in operation, in addition to 30 ships which have been chartered for special services. The cargo carried during the period amounted to 2,215,000 tons, and 119,000 passengers were carried over a total of 2,626,000 miles.

The Tsingtao and Bombay services were stated to be the most active at present, large cargoes being carried on the inward trips and light shipments on the outward voyages on these services. On the coastwise services the shipments of cargo were reported to be fairly active and there has been a small increase in the number of boats operated.

On the European services the cargo movement has been dull during the six months, but the number of passengers carried showed a dis-

ADVOCATE CHINA CAPITAL CHANGE

Two Chinese Cities Claim Honors for Headquarters of Government.

(By the Associated Press)

PEKING—A recent declaration by Dr. Sun Yat-sen that the geographical location of Peking unfits it as the capital city of a progressive nation has prompted many localities to claim the honor. Hankow, 600 miles up the Yangtze River, presses its claim on the ground that it lies in the center of a rich agricultural and manufacturing district, which probably will be improved in the near future by the extension of a railroad in Szechwan.

Hankow's citizens advance a sentimental argument that it was in their city that the 1911 revolution began, which resulted in the establishment of the Chinese Republic.

Nanking, said to be favored by Dr. Sun, has been the capital of China numerous times. Its name, translated means southern.

As opposed to Peking, Nanking was the seat of government of six dynasties between the fourth and sixth centuries and was made the capital under the kings in the fourteenth century. In 1911, the city was taken by the revolutionaries, who established the provisional government with Dr. Sun as president.

Another claimant is Hangchow, 110 miles south of Shanghai. It was the capital of one of the Sung emperors who chose it because of its scenic splendor.

Those who urge changing the capital, argue that Peking is too far removed from the rest of the country, having long been retained merely to please the Manchus. They say that if China is to be united politically it must have a capital more accessible to the whole country, and, incidentally, free from the terrific dust storms which, at certain seasons, blow in from the Gobi desert. It is admitted, however, that China, in view of its more pressing problems, probably will not make a change in the near future.

Wet Forces Breathe Easy Again After Congress Stays Out

(By the Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY.—The "wets" are breathing a trifle easier, now that it is impossible for a "bone dry" bill to be considered by the present regular session of congress which adjourns here December 30. Although there was small fear that such a measure would pass the lower house, it was expected in many quarters that the "dry" element, receiving inspiration from certain high government officials, would attempt to have such a bill at least brought up for discussion. But other legislation intervened, and a new liquor law was forgotten.

It is now considered likely that when congress meets in regular session next May, a prohibition bill will be introduced and the various organizations in the republic dealing with the manufacture and sale of intoxicants are already conducting a vigorous campaign to counteract the "dry" propaganda.

A "bone dry" Mexico is not generally considered here as even a remote possibility, but it is believed that drastic regulations of the low cantinas will be undertaken. These resorts are frequented by the poor classes, who obtain a murderous drink known as pulque for a few cents a quart. Pulque has frequently been described as the "curse of Mexico," and legislation to restrict its sale is regarded as necessary.

Old Time Railroad Men Tell of Radio Experiments in 1890

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—The recent burning of the old Dearborn station here recalls the fact that the clock tower, which suffered particularly in the flames, figured in the beginning of radio development. In the summer of 1890, according to John W. Clarke, assistant chief engineer of the Chicago Eastern Indiana Railroad, aerials were rigged up from the tower and experiments were performed which while only partly successful, convinced the experimenters that wireless messages could be sent.

"Benjamin Thomas was general manager then," said Mr. Clarke. "Permission was obtained for a professor from Notre Dame to string aerials from the tower to the Tribune building. Words were exchanged, but the messages were broken. It was concluded that the noises of Dearborn street interfered."

J. E. Murphy, treasurer of the railroad company, said he remembered that such experiments were conducted from the old tower. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Clarke are among the oldest officials of the road in point of service. Most of the other officials entered the service of the company since 1890 and were therefore unaware of the part played by the Dearborn tower in the early history of wireless invention.

NEW COURSE NOW OFFERED BY U. S.

Education Department Enrolls Thousands in Study of Architecture.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(Special)—The United States Commissioner of Education, John J. Tigert, offers a new course for home reading on "How to Know Architecture." This course is offered to those who are interested in the art of architecture. The books in this list have been selected by Richard F. Bach, associate director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art of New York City. The list contains titles of readable books on the history, evolution and development of architecture and on the enjoyment of architecture and some practical works on architecture.

This is one of the twenty-three courses for reading issued by the United States Bureau of Education in carrying out its plan of home education. More than 16,000 readers from every state and the territories have been enrolled in one or more of these courses. Readers in every profession and field of activity are enlisted in this work. Small circles are formed for the reading in many states.

This work of home education was inaugurated to meet the needs of old and young who had long desired some guide in their home reading, and who needed some incentive to continue the course after having begun it. This incentive is provided in the awarding of a certificate which each reader receives who gives satisfactory evidence of the reading. The certificates are signed by Commissioner Tigert and bear the seal of the United States Bureau of Education.

The courses already issued relate to literature, history, biography, child care, foreign trade, teaching, farming, and architecture. A few courses on vocational subjects have also been issued. The books are usually available at local public libraries and state libraries. State library commissions are ready to co-operate with readers in securing the books. Those who are interested in these courses should write for information to the Commissioner of Education, Washington, D. C.

EDUCATION STEP TO WORLD PEACE

Educators From all Parts of World to Gather in Conference.

(By the Associated Press)
BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 16.—World peace through education will be fostered by prominent educators from all parts of the world who will meet here for two weeks preceding the National Educational Association convention in Oakland, an adjoining city, next July, according to an announcement by Dr. Walter Morris Hart, dean of the summer session of the University of California.

Designation of a day to be known as "World Good Will Day" and a more effective system of the teaching of international civics are among the proposals to be considered at the conference.

In his announcement Hart set forth the objects of the conference as follows:

To promote friendship, justice and good will among the nations of the earth.

To bring about a world-wide tolerance of the rights and privileges of all nations regardless of race or creed.

To develop an appreciation of the value of the inherited gifts of nationality through centuries of development and progress.

To secure more accurate and satisfactory information and more adequate statements in the text books used in the schools of the various countries.

To foster a national comradeship and a confidence which will produce a more sympathetic appreciation among nations.

To inculcate into the minds and hearts of the rising generation those spiritual values necessary to carry forward the principles emphasized in the conference on limitation of armaments.

In all the schools to emphasize the unity of mankind, the evils of war and the necessity of universal peace.

A far reaching system of exchange teachers and students between nations is another idea to be discussed at the conference.

Silk Demand Temporary.

Should Mother be Permitted To Keep Five "Love Babies"

Miss Kathleen Morrell and her five "love babies."

(By Central Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—A Solomon must arise in the court of domestic relations here when the hearing of Miss Kathleen Curtin, charged with contributing to the delinquency of her five "love babies" comes up.

For he must decide a more momentous question that ever faced that famous wise man:

"Should an unwed mother be allowed to keep her five children?"

The question was answered temporarily when the court ordered the children returned to Miss Morrell pending the final hearing of her case, set for a later date.

The facts on which the modern Solomon must base his decision are these:

For ten years in Milwaukee John S. Curtin, wealthy coal man, and Miss Morrell posed as man and wife.

Five children were born as a result.

The unwed mother was placed under arrest on the complaint of Mrs. Curtin, her sweetheart's lawful wife.

The extent of the wife's knowledge of her husband's affair never will be determined at the hearing.

Now should these five children—innocent victims of the transgressions of their parents in the name of love—be denied a mother's care and placed within the gray walls of the Home for the Friendless to grow up ignorant of the tenderness of a mother's love?

Opinions are many and varied. Some say yes; others no. Some say Mrs. Curtin should divorce her husband that he may give the children the name which should be theirs. Others blame only the unwed mother.

Miss Mary M. Bartelme, Illinois' only woman judge, has her opinions on the case, but she refuses, off-handed, to make a decision.

Says Judge Bartelme:

"In this marital mixup of the Curtins and Miss Morrell the persons to be considered are the five children. The adults have voluntarily put themselves in the position they now occupy."

"Therefore I shall speak only from the standpoint of the poor and helpless children."

"The people of this country must learn that the greatest responsibilities of life are those assumed by parents. Until people learn what parenthood means the sacredness of the marital vow never will be understood or appreciated."

"I notice Miss Morrell says, 'They took me to jail and took my finger prints as though I were a criminal all because I loved and had five beautiful, bright babies—without a little ceremony.'"

"It was not because she loved the babies, but because, regardless of them, she yielded to, or sought, self-gratification. Lack of self-control brings most of our calamities to us."

"Can't this woman see—can't the world see—that the marriage ceremony may take only a little time and still be one of the greatest things in our moral life?"

"It isn't the number of words, or the formality, or lack of formality, that is to control and fix their future life. The ceremony is based upon law and principle—neither to be violated."

"This 'little ceremony' represents the right of a man and woman to become parents."

"The children had no say as to how or why they should be introduced into this life. They will start out handicapped."

"All the adults in this triangle failed in their duty to the public and to each other, either through commission or omission. If the wife knew about the first child, why did she wait until four more little unfortunates were brought into the world?"

"The authorities and the public should see that the best interests of the children are served. Their welfare must take precedence over everything else."

"Situations of this kind arise often, I think, because the whole world, in these modern times, too often treats the sacred subject of marriage lightly or in a jesting way. If we could but educate the public to the knowledge that the ceremony of marriage should be the most sacred institution in the world, we would have fewer children placed in such a pathetic position."

Basketball games serve the same purpose in Ada as the Beauville horse races do to Paris—big show.

Did you ever stop to notice that there is some place where she can must get some place where she can install lots of pep into the home team and incidentally show off a perfectly dazzling outfit squeezed from Pop's bankroll? Well Al, they were so numerous at the Ada-Alva game that it looked like a mid-water style show.

Then Pud Gatlin, the little fat cherub, was there with his back-to-the-farm trousers and after securing a bolt of ribbon from a lady friend prepared to show the awaiting world how Rudolph should have looked before the bull fight.

But, Al there is one feature about the basketball games now, you can tell the players from the spectators, owing to the fact that the players wear sparse clothing. 'Twas not always so, Al.

Missionary Says Eskimos Are Not Thriftless People

(By the Associated Press)

BUFFALO, Jan. 16.—Certain tribes of Eskimos do not eat blubber and live in ice igloos, nor are they short and squat, according to Dr. Frank H. Spence, head of the missionary hospital at Point Barrow. Dr. and Mrs. Spence are now here on a visit from Point Barrow, where they opened the farthest north institution of its kind.

The pictures in the school books are wrong," Dr. Spence says. The Eskimos of Point Barrow are as large as the average American. They do not eat blubber, but burn it for fuel. Neither do they live in houses made of ice if they can help it. At Point Barrow their shacks are of three thicknesses of wood with much building paper in between.

"They are the happiest people imaginable; they laugh much more than the white man. They are very polite and show many characteristics of the oriental. Because of their crowded living quarters many of them contract tuberculosis, but we are combating this."

"I have heard from white men the story of Eskimos killing the aged and helpless, but never from a native. They are kind to their cripples, sick and old. They use modern weapons for hunting and rarely resort to the spear, also invariably shown in picturebooks. They make wonderful mechanics."

JAPAN UNEARTHS CHRISTIAN BOOKS

Documents Forbidden in Era of Tokugawa Found; Put in Tokio Museum.

(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO.—It is reported that Marquis Kokujun Tokugawa has discovered among his heirlooms a large stock of old books and other articles relating to Christianity in Japan during its forbidden period in the Tokugawa era. These will be donated to the Museum of Tokio and that of Mito, the native city of the Marquis. The books will be placed at the disposal of students of Christian history in Japan.

Since the time of the Third Shogun there had been in the Tokugawa treasures a series of large boxes known as "Ever-closed cabinets." The present Marquis, upon deciding to open them, was surprised to find a number of books and personal effects that included copies of the Bible written in Japanese kana and representing the original sounds of foreign language, while the dresses were those worn by Japanese Christians at the time of the Amakusa Christian rebellion.

Up to now, relics of the Christian era in Japan consisted of paving stones engraved with a cross upon which Christians were forced to walk, rosaries and statues of the Madonna and child under the form of Kwanon, goddess of Mercy, holding a child to avoid detection. These are found chiefly in Southern Japan where Christian villages also were discovered in remote mountains dating from the time of the persecution.

Presents from the Pope to the Lord of Sendai, who received them upon the occasion of the first Japanese embassy to Rome, are preserved in Northern Japan.

Spy Mania Sweeps Japan; Foreigners are Inconvenienced

(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO.—"Spy Mania" is as pronounced in Japan today as it was in the European countries during the world war. Let any foreigner visit off the beaten track, or a naval or military officer of a foreign power pass through the country, or if he is attached to an embassy, take a trip through the country, the police immediately get busy. He is closely watched, enquiries made regarding his business and quite often the vernacular newspapers will come out with a sensational story regarding the efforts of the police "to arrest an officer who visited a prohibited area."

Even foreign business men often are put to much inconvenience, or at least annoyance. Foreign residents of Tokio or Yokohama visiting Osaka or Kobe, or vice versa, are the subjects of close scrutiny, no matter how long they have lived in the country or how well-known they are in the city where they reside. The police want to know, either directly or indirectly, from the Japanese with whom the foreigner is doing business what were his objects in visiting the city and what he did while there. The higher police officials shrug their shoulders when told of these incidents and put it down to the enthusiasm of their juniors.

As she was stepping from her car at her home Mrs. Hill was struck by a truck driven by a negro who is being held by the police.

During her husband's term of service in Berlin Mrs. Hill was a prominent hostess in the German capital city.

TIGERS LOSE IN RANGER ATTACK

Stellar Work of Faundree Makes Victory Certain for Invaders.

Nosing out in the last minutes of the play after the Ada Tigers had staged a final rally and threatened the early offset, the Alva Rangers added to their string of victories and Ada's string of defeats Monday night at the College gym, when they piled up a final score of 22-13.

With the exception of the last minutes of the play Alva had a clear right-of-way to victory from the start of the game, assuming the lead of 10-6 at the end of the first half. With only two minutes to play, Ada fought to a two-point margin and then lost their opportunity when Faundree dashing forward for the Rangers shot a field goal from near center of the court and later two free throws on fouls. Ada could only muster one field goal through the remainder of the game.

The sensational court work and goal shooting of Faundree, star Alva forward, proved too great an obstacle in the path of Ada victory. Faundree's accuracy on free throws added nine points to the score piled up by the Alva quintet. Miller and Waner, Ada forwards, proved threatening opponents to the accuracy of Alva goal shooters. Inability of forwards to shoot field goals after splendid court pass work resulted in the defeat of the Tigers. Evans also played a stellar game at guard and proved at all times a formidable barrier to the Alva goal.

The Rangers and Tigers will tangle again at the College gym tonight. Coach M. Z. Thompson is expecting to put out his best effort to curb the attack of the invaders.

The Lineup:

Miller	L. F.	Faundree
Waner	R. F.	Shutt
Newton	C.	Surface
Evans	L. G.	Austin
Harrison	R. H.	Heaton
Johnson	Sub.	Proffitt
Kelly	Sub.	Mellen
Referee:	Wray.

AMERICA SHARES IN PARIS HONORS

Many Streets to be Named After American Heroes of War.

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 16.—The participation of the American Expeditionary Forces in the European war will be duly commemorated in the nomenclature of the streets of Paris.

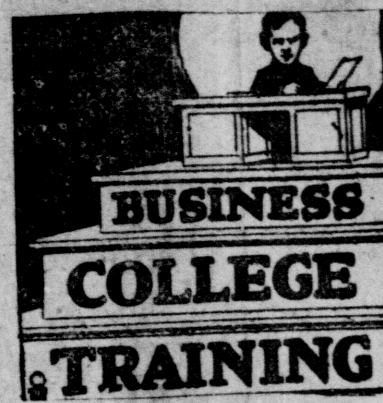

The municipal council soon will resume the task of renaming some 200 of the city's thoroughfares and, according to French custom, the leading figures of the war will be freely honored.

Thus far only General Gallieni, the defender of Paris, Guynemer, the "Ace of Aces" in aviation, and Colonel Bonnet, who distinguished himself at Soissons, have been honored. General Pershing was on the list that was under consideration when the work was suspended on account of objections to the abolition of old names because of sentimental or historical reasons. Pershing, Clemenceau, Foch and other leaders are on the new list, however.

There still remains a score of streets in Paris with German and Austrian names that may never be changed. Included are the rues Beethoven, Gluck, Meyerbeer, Richard Wagner, Mozart and Palatine, the rue de Vienne and the Place Badest. Streets that recall great German musicians and poets probably will be left unchanged.

It has been decided to rechristen all streets that were named after the owners of the property through which they were originally cut. In addition there will be a hundred and fifty new streets opened in consequence of the demolition of the city fortifications, which will furnish ample opportunity to honor the greatest heroes of the war. Paris streets and squares with American names at present are Avenue President Wilson, rue Lincoln, Franklin, Louisiana and Washington, and the Place des Etats Unis.
